

Community Service - Give a helping hand

Community service is done by people of all ages and saves our National economy billions of dollars each year.

Visit this website and explore it with the students in your class. Then read the information below.

Many employers like to know you have found some time to assist others around you. The reason for this is because most businesses provide some type of service for others, their customers. A business can succeed or fail if the worker doesn't consider the needs of their customers.

Community service is also important because it allows you the opportunity of giving to others who need assistance around you. Perhaps you know of other options that are not on the list below. You can plan to do a community service of your own by volunteering to help at a place that you know could do with a hand.

Task1 : Now write up what you did in your volunteer work here and then remember to add this into your resume.

Task 2: Make sure to ask someone at your volunteer workplace if they could write you a reference. Add their details into the Referees section in your resume and include the reference into your Personal Folder that you take to your job interviews in the future.

Bosses truly respect and hold a person in high esteem if that person has done something for someone other than themselves. There are many ways you can assist others around you. It may be in school or out in your community. It is important to take advantage when the opportunity arrives because it doesn't always present itself to you again.
